Mrs. William Franklin Pierce Reid, whose marriage took place in Fairfax county on Wednesday evening, Mrs. Reid was formerly Miss Sallie Kerfoot Pickett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George K. Pickett, of "Fairview."

Today is the beginning of Holy Week, and practically an entertaining will be done by fashionable society. The few weddings that are to be celebrated this week will be quiet home affairs, generally with only the immediate families and a few intimate friends of the bride and groom present. The marriage of Miss Clara Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Smith, Jr., and Walter Lefew, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lefew, also of this city, will be the most important social event of the week. The ceremony will take place very quietly Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 10 South Fifth Street.

The Roller Skating Club will meet as usual on Tuesday night at the Palace Rink, and a number of unique events have been planned for the entertainment of the guests present. The younger element of society has pretty much monopolized the club, and it has proved a welcome diversion during the Lenten season.

This is the most uncertain part of the year. One easily loses track of one's acquaintances, with so many charming resorts at hand. Easter finds a big contingent of society in Atlantic City, and all over the State people are opening up their country homes for the springtime that has been such a long time coming. Many interesting house parties will be given in the two months between now and June, when a large number of people go abroad. Some of them will go only to England and spend June motorizing about the country, stopping at small villages or big towns just as they please. Others will make a longer stay and will not return to this country until the late fall.

Today is Palm Sunday, next in importance to Easter, since the day should be bright, and the season of new bonnets is upon the people at large. Many people have recently returned from extended Southern trips and others from longer stays in the North. At the boys and girls who have been attending fashionable boarding schools and colleges will be back home this week for the day at least, and a good

An Unusual Sale of Easter Suits $35, $37.50 and $40 Tailored and Fancy Suits, $25.00

One of New York's most prominent suit makers—who caters only to the best trade, and with whom we do a large business—put our buyer, who was in the market, next to a lot of Exclusive Sample Suits he had on sale.

These garments were practically sold to one of the finest of New York apparel shops; but, wishing our good-will and favor, told us to pick out as many Suits as we desired before disposing of them.

We selected 42 Suits for misses and small women from the collection. They are without doubt the smartest Suits of the season. The styles are only the most desirable, and the cloths are of exceptionally fine qualities. A choice of severely tailored, others with a touch of trimming lending beauty to the garment—that so many desire.

To the above we have added many of our own High Quality Suits, making an offering that is practically unheard of previous to Easter.

chappies as they dance with their fair companions.

The tarantella dance is another attractive feature. Its music is so fast and furious, so wild and beautiful, that the wonder is how the gay, young dancers can keep time to the ever-changing airs.

When the French dolls, leading their Teddy Bears, appear upon the stage, the fun and frolic of the Kirmess will have just begun. One of its most amusing features will be the Tunny Hug, which will be accompanied by shouts from the toy Teddies.

The Kirmess will not only offer to the public many varied attractions of amusement, but will contain several beautiful and artistic booths presided over by many popular matrons and maidens of Richmond.

The flower booth, with Mrs. John Skelton Williams chairman, assisted by Miss Bagby and Miss Lucy Parke Taylor; the tobacco booth, Mrs. D. C. Richardson, chairman, assisted by Mrs. N. L. Mase; the candy booth, Mrs. H. Sadler; the ice cream booth, Mrs. P. J. White, chairman, assisted by Mrs. D. A. Brown; Mrs. Harvey C. Brown, Miss Hettie Tabb, Mrs. Stephen Beveridge, Mrs. Gordon Wright and Miss Bettie Ellyson; soft drinks booth, Mrs. B. A. Blenner, chairman, assisted by Mrs. W. R. Vawter, Mrs. C. E. Snyder and Mrs. J. W. White.

The management of the stage will be under the supervision of Miss Mabel Walker, assisted by Miss Nora Randall.

At the University of Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucian H. Cooke are at the University of Virginia, where they are Vice-Secretary and Mrs. Charles W. Kent at their home on the lawn. Mr. and Mrs. Cooke were guests at the dinner given Friday evening by Dr. and Mrs. Kent in honor of the Japanese professor Dr. Inazo Nitobe. The dinner was a very handsome affair.

Friday evening was the occasion of the annual spring recital given by the pupils of Mrs. Thurston's School of Expression. A large audience was present, and an unusually attractive program was rendered, special features being some pantomime work and music.

Some of those taking part in the recital Friday night were: Misses Frankie Hoover, Nannie Crawford, Miriam Douglas, Eula Bowman, Bertie Jones, Helen Nuckolls, Mary Nuckolls, Florence Kidd, Mary Barnes, Nannie Culpepper, and Ernest Koptz.

Says a Washington exchange: "The date for the annual hunt ball at the Chevy Chase Club has been changed from Friday of Easter week to Friday, April 19."

The hunt ball in Washington given every spring is always a gala event and attended by a number of people prominent in society of Virginia.

Engagements of interest. An engagement of international interest was announced in Baltimore recently, that of Miss Constance Hoffmeister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffmeister, of London, and North Devonshire, England, to Harry C. Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Crawford Black, of 113 West Monument Street, Baltimore. The wedding, which will be a quiet one, will take place in North Devonshire in the autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Henke, of Red-gate Avenue, Norfolk, announce the engagement of their daughter, Leona Katherine, to Paymaster F. L. Bethen, United States Navy. The wedding will take place in May.

Miss Henke is an exceedingly pretty girl, who, since her debut two years ago, has made hosts of friends in Norfolk. Paymaster Bethen is very popular in the service, and has also a large number of friends in that city and in Portsmouth.

The last of the series of Lenten teas given by the Girls' Club of Ginter Park will take place on Tuesday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock. This tea will be given at the home of Mrs. Hugh Russell, 305 Seminary Avenue, who is hostess for the afternoon. Assisting Mrs. Russell in receiving the guests on Tuesday afternoon will be Mrs. Lawton Crutchfield, Mrs. Howard Sutton, Mrs. Blythe Moore, Miss Irene Stiles, and Miss Nell Sutton. These teas have been very interesting affairs, and have been largely attended.

The board of managers of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities will meet on Tuesday afternoon of this week at 4 o'clock, in the rooms of the Virginia Historical Society. The meeting is changed from the usual morning hour to the afternoon on account of Holy Week services.

At the Woman's Club.

Mrs. W. A. Crenshaw, chairman of the day, has been fortunate in securing the services of Dr. John Calvin Metcalf for to-morrow afternoon. Dr. Metcalf will speak to the members of the Woman's Club and their guests about "Tolstol." Further comment is unnecessary. Members are requested to notice the change in the hour to 5 o'clock, at which time all afternoon meetings will take place until further notice.

On Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock the Literature Class will meet to hear the second part of Miss Daniel's talk on Robert Browning and "The Ring and the Book."

Art Club Notes. Miss Eva Kahle arrived in Richmond Friday night to be the guest of Mrs. G. E. Vanderslice, at 223 Hanover Avenue, until after the Easter holidays. Miss Kahle is a student at the Martha Washington Institute, in Abingdon, and has several times visited in this city.

Patrons of the Art Club of Richmond listened to an unusually interesting talk last Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. N. V. Randolph gave some original ideas on art and its various applications in our daily life. Mrs. Randolph is noted for her ready wit and ability to talk interestingly on any subject, and her remarks were no exception to the rule. "Definitions" made up the first part of her talk, and in demonstrating these the fact was brought out that one of the principal things to be noted was the art of using opportunities for doing all things well.

In other words, Mrs. Randolph voiced the old definition of genius, the ability of keeping everlastingly at it. Incidentally the lecturer gave some original views on the artistic needs of the city of Richmond, emphasizing the importance of doing all things well.

Among other things, the crying need for the increase in the number of playgrounds as furthering in the rising generation the enjoyment of that heaven-born faculty of enjoying the life which they are not responsible for creating. Of art in the abstract, Mrs. Randolph frankly said her knowledge was not of the deeper sort, and her vocabulary of art terms was quite notable for its lack of nonunderstandable terms, for her endeavors were directed more to a clear knowledge of what art consists in than in flights of classical terminology.

Taken as a whole, this talk was as any as interesting and valuable as any which have preceded.

Beginning with next Tuesday the Art Club will enable its members and their friends to view the collection of paintings executed by William P. Silva, the well known Southern artist. This artist's atelier is in Washington, D. C., but his education was acquired in Paris under the tuition of Jean Paul Laurens, where his progress was so satisfactory and rapid that he was exhibiting in the Salon after his first year. The regular Tuesday afternoon lecture will be omitted next week. Lovers of the Art Club during the exhibition of these paintings, for it is not often that such an opportunity occurs here. Mr. Silva was born in Savannah and has been in America since 1903. Miss Lulu Pleasants will exhibit some unusual works in the line of eighteenth century decorative furniture. The Art Club is employing every means to bring art before the householders of Richmond in a taking way.

In Massachusetts. Miss Esther Bennett's visiting Miss Belle Whitcomb at Brookline, Mass. Miss Whitcomb is Miss Bennett's room-mate at National Park Seminary. They will spend Easter in Boston.

Lecture in Birmingham. The Equal Suffrage Association in Birmingham, Ala., has several educational features in store for the coming week. The mass-meeting Friday evening will be followed within the fortnight by the coming of Miss Mary Johnston, the distinguished novelist and one of the leading exponents of equal franchise privileges in this country.

Miss Johnston will deliver an address on equal suffrage in the Chamber of
